SEMINAR SERIES

All images courtesy of Cedar McKay, UW School of Oceanography except as marked.

Every 2nd Tuesday
at the UW in FSH108

Every 4th Tuesday
at the NOAA's NWFSC Auditorium

[2:30pm - 3:30pm]

This series encourages communication among scientists, students and others interested in the complex interactions of oceans and human health. Speakers and articles will bridge disciplines, highlight cross-cutting issues, and expand awareness of the role of our oceans on human health. Everyone interested in these topics is welcome to attend.

Students who would like to receive credit | contact Micaela Parker at micaela@u.washington.edu

For more information | contact Shelly Nance at (206) 860-3327 or shelly.nance@noaa.gov
